Its Origin is Doubt.

The other day I casually asked a drug clerk the origin of the many colored lights which are now the universal signs of a drug store. The youth referred me very pleasantly to an older man in the store, who finally admitted that he knew about as little as his younger associate.
I called in every drug store on upper Broadway and made the same query. At each place the question seemed to paralyze the younger members of the establishment. The older clerks contented themselves with the opinion that it was only to attract attention that various colored lights were represented by jets behind liquid in a glass bottle. I ascertained that there was a great deal of knack in preparing the liquid so as to give a clear light of whatever color desired and to stand the test of time without precipitation.

One clerk said he thought that the custom could be traced back two or three hundred years until it faded into the barber pole that is now the sign of the tonorial artists throughout the English speaking world. Another man, who seemed to get a little nearer to it than the rest, said that it originated with the early chemists and alchemists, who designated their places of business in this way.
All of them expressed a desire that when I got the information sought I should furnish it to those engaged in the drug business.—Interview in New York Herald.

Too Personal.

"I have been much impressed, Miss Lou," remarked young Mr. Trotter to the girl at his left at the dinner table, upon whom he was desirous of making a good impression, "with an article I read recently in one of the magazines on the influence of food upon the human system."

"Yes," replied the maiden encouragingly, and Trotter went on:

"The author maintained that a man becomes to a great extent what he eats, and, do you know, I am thoroughly convinced that he is quite right."

It was extremely inopportune that the hostess should have selected this moment to ask:

"Mr. Trotter, won't you have some more of the roast pork. You are so very fond of it, I know."—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Device to Avoid Ocean Collisions.

In order to do away with the enormous pressure of the water against the front of ocean steamships an English inventor has introduced a novel device, which he claims will enable faster time to be made by vessels, in addition to facilitating the maneuvering of ships, and tend to avoid collisions. The invention consists of one or more screws on each side of the bow, each 45 degs. with the bow and 90 degs. from each other. Experiments with these screws show that the water is thrown from each side of the bow, forming a deep well in front of the vessel, and allowing the stern screws to effect their full power in propulsion.

Great Britain's Unclaimed Hoards.

If all the boxes lying unclaimed for ten years or longer in the cellars of the Banks of England and Ireland, at Coutts', Drummonds', Child's and other well known bankers, were unearthed and their contents examined, wonderful treasures in the shape of plate, jewelry and other valuables might be handed over to the representatives of the original de-positors. Many missing title deeds, wills and other valuable documents might also be restored to their rightful owners.
—Chambers' Journal.

Waterproof Compositions.

A liquid waterproof composition has been placed on the market for coating articles such as leather, strapping, machinery, polished steel, brass and copper, which, it is claimed, will resist damp, heat, cold and acids. The composition is colorless, and does not rub or peel off, being only removable by the application of paraffin or turpentine.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

DR. C. J. HOOD

Secretary Tracy, of the Navy, announced a week or two ago at a Boston banquet that he was going to reform the Navy, which was conducted more in the interest of the politicians than for the benefit of the public who pay for it. Since then he has experienced a change of heart, in fact turned a complete somersault, so to speak, and to please the politicians has made himself the laughing stock of those who have watched his course in naval affairs. Last January he publicly denounced Commander Reiter, of the United States Man of War Ranger, as a poltroon and a coward for permitting the assassination of General Barundis, of Guatemala, on the American steamer Acapulco, on which he sought protection. The Secretary then said in an official letter reprimanding Reiter:

"It is believed that few cases have occurred in the history of the United States Navy where the commanding officer so completely abandoned the responsibility of his position as, according to your own showing, you did upon this critical occasion. An officer who so abdicates his authority and that of the Nation he represents, and surrenders it to others, has a lesson to learn before he can safely be entrusted with the command of a ship of war. Whenever any passenger, whether American or foreigner, is received on board an American steamer, he comes under the American flag and is entitled to the protection and security of which that flag is a guarantee. It was within your legitimate power, as it was your imperative duty, to execute by every means legally at your command the guarantee of protection which the United States gives to all vessels under the flag."

Now Commander Reiter, who the Secretary said had much to learn before he can safely be entrusted with the command of a ship of war, has been assigned by that self same Secretary to the command of the United States man-of-war Thetis, one of the most desirable ships in the navy. The commander learned that the way to acquire eminence and promotion in the navy was not by defending those who seek protection under the American flag, but by bringing political influence to bear on an administration that is using the whole machinery of the Government to secure the re-election of President Harrison.

INSUBORDINATE SOLDIERS.

Another battalion of the Grenadier Guards, one of the crack regiments of the British army, has mutinied. The men were stationed at Chelsea barracks, near London, and refused to obey orders to parade. Some of the men were arrested and an investigation into the cause of the mutiny was ordered. The guards alleged that they had long been subjected to a series of annoying drills for which there is no cause or reason, except the convenience of the officers.

About a year ago another battalion of the Guards mutinied and were ordered to Bermuda, where they have since been stationed. An investigation was promised but it was not made. The insubordination creates great excitement in military circles, as the guards were supposed to be the best disciplined troops in the British army. Public sentiment is with the soldiers and the belief is prevalent that the military system of the English army must be changed, or no regiment can be relied upon to obey the commands of the officers.

IGNORING HARRISON.

The Republican League Convention at Cincinnati is not the most harmonious body in the world. It is composed of politicians whose motto seems to be men, not measures. Ex-Governor Foraker, of Ohio, threw a fire brand among the assemblage by eulogizing Blaine as a man who has given us a magnificent administration. This offended the Indiana delegate, who considered it a slur on President Harrison, and he declared he would call a meeting to denounce such treatment of the President. The convention then adjourned and resolutions were administered to the Indiana delegate by other delegates who construed Foraker's language to mean the administration of the State department. The subject was referred to the committee on resolutions, and it is probable that to mollify the Indiana delegate and pour oil on the troubled waters, Harrison, who was ignored by the convention, will be lauded in the resolutions.

THE TITLE TO ALCATRAZ.

The title to Alcatraz Island, which was originally a barren rock in the bay of San Francisco, is claimed by the heirs and associates of the late General J. C. Fremont. The island is fortified and garrisoned with troops by the Federal Government to protect San Francisco from invaders, should there be any. It is also used as a military prison where deserters and others sentenced by Court Martial serve their sentences. There was a missing link in the Fremont title, which, it is now alleged, has been found by W. R. Covert, of Findlay, Ohio, who is one of the claimants under Fremont, he having furnished a part of the purchase money. This link is in the form of a grant from the Mexican Government to one Plinio Temple, the man from whom Fremont made the purchase. The heirs of Fremont ask $10,000,000 for the island, and it is said, will bring suit against the Government for that amount.

The President in Southern California, Special to the Journal.

LOS ANGELES, April 22.—At no place visited by the President since his departure from Washington was he accorded a heartier or more hospitable welcome than at Los Angeles, at which place his flower-laden car arrived at 3 o'clock this afternoon, promptly on schedule time. As the train rolled into the station the national salute was fired, people cheered lustily and all the bells and whistles joined in acclaim. The city was lavishly decorated in honor of the distinguished visitor. Every available point of vantage was covered with flowers, including the carriage provided for the visitors. Calla lilies seemed to be the favorite flower, and they were seen on every side. The ceremonies opened with a street parade, in which all the U S troops, militia, G. A. R. posts and civic organizations in this vicinity participated. They escorted the President and his party through the streets, crowded with enthusiastic people. Hundreds of children lined the sidewalks at one point of the route, and they showered the President with flowers as his carriage passed slowly by. The parade ended at the City Hall, where a covered platform had been erected for the public ceremonies. This platform looked like a tropical garden. On either side reaching to the roof was a tapering floral column with a base of evergreens and calla lilies. Flag draperies were festooned from the center. The addresses of welcome were made by Governor Markham and Mayor Hazard, and the President responded.

In the course of his speech the President said he received the honors paid him as the most assuring demonstration of the love of the people of California for American institutions. He said that nothing more important in territorial expansion, unless it was the purchase of Louisiana and the control of the Mississippi river, had ever occurred in our nation's history, than the acquisition of California by Fremont and his associates. The President spoke of the progress of the new navy and urged the necessity of further development in that direction, and also the necessity of coast defenses. He was loudly cheered throughout his speech.

Brief speeches were also made by Secretary Rusk and Postmaster General Wamamaker, after which the President and party proceeded to the Hollenbeck Hotel where elegant flower bedecked apartments had been reserved for them. Dinner was served at the hotel, during which the President was serenaded. In the early part of the evening he went to the pavilion and held a public reception which was largely attended, and later the President, Secretary Rusk, Postmaster General Wamamaker and the ladies were entertained at the Union League Club. The President's invitation to the club was on a solid silver card suitably inscribed. The entire city was brilliantly illuminated at night.

Hon. Luiz E. Torres, Governor of Lower California, and other foreign officials participated in to-day's ceremonies.

POMONA, April 22.—In his address at Colton to-day the President said, in part: "It would require a brain more fertile in resources than the State of California is in its productiveness to say something original or interesting at every place we stop, but I can say always, I thank you; I am your servant in all things that will conduce to the general prosperity and happiness of the American people. I have been greatly pleased this morning to come out of the land of desert and drifting sand and into this land of homes and smiling women and bright children. I have been glad to see these beautiful gardens and these fertile fields and to know that you are now making all these valleys to smile like the garden of Eden. If we shall leave your happy and prosperous State freighted with your good will and love, as we shall leave ours with you, it will be a happy exchange." [Cheers.]

The Presidential party reached here at 1 o'clock and stopped twenty minutes. Only two hours' notice of the stop had been given, but the whole town turned out, and a special train was run from Chico. H. Z. Osborne introduced the President, who spoke as follows: "You will surely excuse me from extended remarks. I have been subjected to such a strain that my brain needs irrigation to put it in trim again. [Reference to irrigation cheered.] I am glad to look at the face American other country as great me at every station. They come from good homes, safety of the country. I am pleased to see them here. Schools have everywhere followed the pioneers, you have a New England education, and homes more than that, you have the New England love of thrift, living on little and having much over." Wamamaker and Rusk also spoke. The speakers were showered with roses and presented with immense naval banners. The party alighted and inspected the gravity cars.

THE REPUBLICAN LEAGUE.

Letters From Harrison, Sherman and Evarts.

Special to the Journal.

CINCINNATI, April 22.—The Republican League Convention was late in convening this morning and many delegates were not in the hall when President Thurston called the meeting to order. A big box of American tin plate, forwarded by Congressman Niedring of St. Louis, was placed on the stage, and a lively scramble for possession of the brilliant souvenirs followed. The Secretary read a number of letters.

The reading was punctuated with frequent applause, but when a letter was announced from the President of the United States the delegates cheered again and again, and finally they rose en masse, waving handkerchiefs and papers and cheering until the great hall reverberated with enthusiastic outbursts. President Harrison regretted his inability to be present and said this convention of the Republican party and the legislation of the last Congress were clearly defined and very courageously presented the issues upon which the next contest must be waged.

Senator Sherman wrote: "The organization of Republican clubs should be extended to every county in the United States and all these clubs should unite in harmonious action for the success of the Republican party. Their influence for good cannot be over estimated."

A letter from Evarts was read in part: "The meeting you are about to hold is well timed for survey of the great theatre of the political conflict which is to come to a head in the election of 1892. This conflict will be between the Republican party, its principles and methods for promoting prosperity, and the honor of the country, so far as the conduct of the Government is concerned with them, and the vague and nondescript theories and pretensions of the great political party which is seeking to overthrow the powers of the Republican party and defeat its principles and methods of government and intelligent and faithful presentations of this grave issue to the people of the country from this time forward until the election of 1892 is closed is the great duty of all Republicans."

A resolution was adopted endorsing Harrison's administration. It insists on such legitimate increase of circulating medium and such maintenance of double standard as will fairly satisfy the increasing necessities of trade and commerce. It urges the passage of immigration laws to prohibit undesirable immigration.

The convention decided that the Executive Committee should name the place and time of the next meeting. It is to be not less than three weeks after the National Republican convention. Adjourned sine die.

Professor Anderson better known as Tom McCormack, is in town, and is about to take charge of a class in sparring. All those wishing to learn the art of self defense will do well to see the Professor in person. He is the best fencer one could find in the city, and has turned out some very clever boxers. He is considered one of the best teachers in the country, and a gentleman in every respect. His classes are held at the Grand Central Hotel.

Russia is negotiating a new loan of 600,000,000 francs at three per cent. A syndicate, with the Rothschilds at the head, is handling the loan. Russia mercilessly persecutes the Hebrews in its territory but when it needs money calls on Hebrews to assist it and, strange to say, they always respond.

WHAT IS SCROFULA

It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, produces unsightly lumps or swellings, which causes painful running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which develops ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or the many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors," which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can SCROFULA

It Be CURED By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. Some of these cures are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula, be sure to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. "My daughter Mary was afflicted with scrofulous neck from the time she was 22 months old till she became six years of age. Lumps formed in her neck, and one of them after growing to the size of a pigeon's egg, became a running sore for over three years. We gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla, when the lump and all indications of scrofula entirely disappeared, and now she seems to be a healthy child." J. S. CARLILE, Narragansett, N. J. N. B. IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE STATE of Nevada, in and for Washoe county. The State of Nevada sends to Mary G. Carroll, greeting. You are hereby required to appear in an action commenced against you as defendant, by Wm. H. Carroll, as plaintiff, in the District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for the county of Washoe, and answer the complaint therein within ten days after the service on you of this summons (exclusive of day of service). If served in said county, or twenty days if served out of said county, but within said District, and in all other cases forty days, or judgment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint. The action is brought to recover a judgment and decree of divorce, forever dissolving the bonds of matrimony now existing between you, the said Mary G. Carroll, and the said William H. The said action is brought on the ground of desertion of him on your part for a period of more than one year last past prior to the commencement of this action. All of which will more fully appear from the complaint which is on file in the office of the Clerk of said Court, at Reno, in said county, and to which you are especially referred. And you are further notified that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint, the said plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded. In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand at Reno, this 23rd day of March, A. D. 1891. H. W. WARD, Attorney for Plaintiff.

A Maine man discovered a big gash in his boot where he cut his foot while in the woods and just managed to get home, feeling himself growing fainter from the loss of blood all the way, and fainted on arriving, when it was discovered that the gash only went through the boot and the red color was not blood, but only a woolen stocking.

Reno has the banner Chautauqua circle east of the Sierra Nevada.

Reno has the banner Chautauqua circle east of the Sierra Nevada, numbering all the party members, nearly all of whom have been reading required during the year in their study. The "Sagebrush" circle was organized last October and has had an eventful year. It meets every Tuesday evening at the home of some one of the different members and has been the means of imparting considerable knowledge and affording much amusement to those who belong. The circle is possessed of a fund of life in the personnel of its members and a "dry" meeting is yet unheard of.

The Chautauqua movement in this State received an added impetus in the Assembly at Lake Tahoe last year. Those who had the pleasure of attending that initial gathering of what bids fair to become eventually one of the leading Western Summer institutions, were so well pleased with the programme and enjoyments of the occasion that a large concourse will doubtless this year be in attendance.

The Tahoe Chautauqua Assembly is now definitely recognized as one of the coast Summer schools and receives all the advantages in the way of securing eminent instructors and lecturers that Pacific Grove or any of the other Chautauqua Summer resorts do.

The directors of the Assembly have been happy in securing President Quail, of Kansas, as Superintendent of the coming gathering. President Quail has received rare encomiums from several men whose fame gives added weight to their words, being one of the most brilliant young men of his generation. He is scarcely thirty and has the reformed eloquence of Beecher, coupled with wide learning, and the conservativeness rather of the truly great man, than of the genius or prodigy. He is what might be called a well rounded man, with unlimited possibilities.

The Chautauquans have been endeavoring for a long time to secure Dr. Selah W. Brown to deliver a course of lectures here, the same that he has given with marked success at all of the great Chautauqua gatherings in the country, with a view to advertise the coming Tahoe Assembly by giving the people a taste beforehand of the Assembly speakers. Dr. Brown has at length consented, and the dates of his lectures will soon be made known. One of the greatest living travelers, having wandered in every land and climate on the globe, Dr. Brown has seen many times as much of the earth as even Stanley and has withal a wonderful facility in telling of it in an interesting way. He is a delightful humorist and rarely fails to have his lectures punctuated with roars of laughter from his audience, as he describes some of his doings, wise and otherwise, in the lands of the lotus or where India's temples rear their heads.

HEAVIEST LOCOMOTIVES MADE

Something About the Monsters for Service in St. Clair Tunnel.

Philadelphia Times.

Four engines have just been completed by the Baldwin Locomotive Works for the Grand Trunk Railway Company. They are the heaviest locomotives in the world, weighing when in running order 195,000 pounds each—in fact, so great is their weight that it will be necessary to remove the cabs and other parts to insure their safe passage over some of the bridges they must cross in their route. They will run on 100 pound rails, as they would soon destroy lighter rails.

The largest engines in use on either the Pennsylvania &amp; Reading Railroads, haul on the level about 3000 tons, while these four will haul upward of 5000 tons on the level. Through the St. Clair tunnel, where they are to be used, and which has a grade of 105 feet to the mile, they are guaranteed to haul 760 gross tons of cars and lading, which is equivalent to twenty-five or thirty loaded freight cars.

The locomotives are of the class known as tank locomotives, and have no tenders but on each side of the boiler is a tank with a capacity of 2000 gallons. The cab is placed on top of the boiler. One conspicuous feature of the locomotives is the absence of the pony wheels; the iron monsters are run on five pairs of drivers, each 50 inches in diameter, with a wheel base of 18 feet 3 inches. The cylinders are 22 inches in diameter, and have a stroke of 28 inches. The air brakes, which are very powerful, operate upon each wheel.

The St. Clair tunnel passes under the St. Clair river, which connects Lake Huron with Lake Erie, and is 6,000 feet long, with approaches 1,950 and 2,500 feet, respectively, making the entire length 10,450 feet, or over two miles. When completed it will afford a direct and continuous line of connection to the Grand Trunk's line in Canada with its line in Michigan, thus doing away with the ferris across the river.

The appreciative citizens of Reno have tendered Messrs. Evans and Roberts a grand benefit concert at McKissick's Opera House next Tuesday evening, April 28th. Messrs. Evans and Roberts intend leaving Reno shortly. They have ever been ready with voice and purse to assist in entertainments for the benefit of churches, societies and the public generally, and the concert is given as a token of the esteem in which the gentlemen are held by their acquaintances. The concert will comprise vocal and instrumental music, declamations, etc., by the best local talent. Tickets are only fifty cents, and reserved seats can be secured at Hodgkinson's drug store without extra charge.

A PICTURE IN FROST TIME

A window, with wide panes embayed And half moon seat of old gold cloth, Looks forth to where the trees are swayed By winds whose breath is chill and wroth

And on the glass a filmy veil Extends, as if to shield the bloom That nods in greeting to the gale From midst the warm and cheery room.

Roses and lilies, hothouse pinks And pansies that no garden dew E'er wet, and ferns whose fragile links No woodland pool with shade did strew.

And showing multi-colored tints, Full clusters of chrysanthemums Flash back the rosy flame that glows Where costly the hearth log burns.

While near at hand sits one who reads The pages of a book of art, And naught outdoors or indoors heeds, Lost in some spirit realm's fair mart.

—William Struthers in Detroit Free Press.

Plain Living.

To the ordinary homekeeping youth plain living is usually the every day diet to which he has always been accustomed, with little regard to its fitness or wholesomeness. With a royal contempt for divergent tastes, he is apt to give a domestic version of the old saying, "Orthodoxy is my doxy, so heterodoxy must be yours." What suits him should suit every one. The same spirit animated Dr. Johnson when he gave his famous definition of "oats" as "in England, food for horses, in Scotland for men." But the whirligig of time has so twisted affairs around that the food at which the great lexicographer sniggered little more than a hundred years ago is now an article of daily diet in thousands of English homes. The plainest of plain living it is to us nowadays, but the high thinking of the Seventeenth and Eighteenth centuries was cultivated on a very different aliment. Yet who is prepared to say that greater intellects have ever been known in the English nation than were produced in the days of roistering, wine bibbing and high living, when such minds were developed as those of Shakespeare, Ben Jonson, Dryden, Addison, Swift, Pope and countless others whom time fails even to mention?— Christine Terhune Herrick.

Substance and Form in Literary Judgment.

And it is not true that from the nature of things the contemporary judgment lays most stress on substance, and that the "final" judgment is favorable to form? Substantially speaking, how many historic things of immense contemporary vogue seem insipid to us, whereas scarcely anything of very great formal merit has been allowed to perish?

In other words, is there not an element of universality about perfection of form which significance of thought does not possess? or, at any rate, is not perfection more nearly attainable in form than it is in substance? And nothing is so preservative as perfection or any approach to it.

One thing is very certain—neglect of form involves the sacrifice of an element of positive attractiveness as well as of offending positively by perverseness and eccentricity. Whether rhyme and rhythm, cadence, purity, flawlessness, melody are essential or not to poetry, the abandonment of the artistic quality which they imply is obviously a loss.—Scribner's.

An Indian Challenge.

Two tribes of Indians in the upper part of California had as boundary between their districts a low ridge where the streams headed. If you should go to where one of these streams, Potter river, rises you would see still standing a tall pile of stones beside a never failing spring. On one side of this cairn was the territory of the Pomo Indians, and on the other the land of the Chumia. These tribes were enemies, and were often at war. When the Chumia wished to challenge the others to battle they took three little sticks, cut notches round their ends and in the middle, tied them at the ends into a fagot and laid it on this cairn. If the Pomo accepted the challenge they tied a string around the middle of the three sticks and left them in their place. Then agents of both tribes met on neutral ground and arranged the time and place of battle, which took place accordingly.—St. Nicholas.
